COKONER'S INQUEST, AGAIN.

session to be Held In the City Jail at & o'Cleck This Evening-The Witnesses Who Are to Go Befere It.

The Coroner's jury in the case of Miss Fannie Lilian Madison will resume rooms at the city jail. It is expected that they will then be able to conclude their work and bring in a verdict.

The note which deceased wrote while at the American Hotel in answer to one she received by the hands of a mulatto boy has never yet been before the jury, but will be produced this evening. It reads: "I will be there soon as possible. So do wait for me." The envelope in which it was enclosed was addressed to T. J. Cluverius. Envelope and note were (as already related in the Dispatch) torn, but have been so put together as to be entirely legible.

The mulatto boy in question—supposed to be a newsboy—has not yet been found, so far as the public or the Coro-

brown, with a narrow border of lighter color, is of medium size and somewhat worn, and has on it stains that look like they were made by blood. The spots are broad and the matter making them is spread out widely; that is to other expert examination has yet been made to determine the character of these spots. That will no doubt be done, if deemed necessary, after the handkerchief has been brought into the case by evidence. The red shawl found on Mr. Dunstan's fence is not in the Coroner's hands. It has never been identified before the Coroner's jury.

THE CAR-DRIVER. this evening are Mr. J. T. Williams and Dr. Stratton.

The former is a street-car driver. It in such cases ad interim. is expected that he will testify that on the night of the day on which Miss Madison absented herself from the American Hotel a man and woman (whom he will describe as near as possible) rode on his car up to Reservoir street. Dr. Stratton, it is said, will testify

On the first floor of the building is the office and operating-rooms, fitted up with apparatus for operating on the eye, affected organs and parts sympathizing di-rectly with them; and, therefore providing a specific remedy for all diseases for which it ear, nose, and throat. A movable curtain swings on a circular rod, and is used for making the office light or dark at will. On the same floor are the rooms in which the white patients are lodged who desire to board at the imfirmary. Comfort and health are both consulted in the furnishing of these rooms, which have a home-like appearance. The third story of the house is fitted up like the companied by the following letter from second, and for a similar purpose. A cature of the infirmary is that part of the building which is used for colored people. The rooms are neatly and comortably fitted up, and patients are treated free of cost. An old colored man who was brought to the infirmary stone-blind, yesterday was able to distinguish the color of ral, very respectfully your obedient serpaper and identify a person at a dis-

An old colored woman, also blind when brought to the infirmary, is able Mrs. A. N. C. Price, secretary of the Board of Lady Managers, says in her annual report : During the past year our infirmary has had the same struggle for existence that has characterized the preceding years. We had hoped that as time went on and the public became better acquainted with the institution and the scope of its charity, we would have more pecuniary assistance, thereby enfulness. In this, however, we have been disappointed, our contributions luring the past year being less tha heretofore, which necessarily restricted us in our work. This we are inclined to attribute to a misunderstanding among the charity-disposed of our popu lation as to the nature and extent of the good accomplished by the infirmary and dispensary. The dispensary, or out-door department, is the main feature of the institution, and it is daily open from 1 to : o'clock for the gratuitous treatment of all those in the city, whether white or colored, suffering from diseases of the eye, ear, throat, or nose, and whose cirumstances are such that they are unable to pay for this special treatment The rooms are always heated in cold weather, a servant in charge, and the attending surgeons always on hand. whatever the weather may be. The senior surgeon is there every day, and the other surgeons each three times a week. Such free service to the poor suffering from these diseases enables them to apply for treatment in the earliest stage of their troubles, and have them arrested or cured before they have advanced far enough to throw them out of work, thus obviating the necessity of their being confined in a hospital, The hours are arranged to epa-with being drunk. Fined $2.50. many cases medicines are given them, but our means do not permit us to dispense medicines to all the patients. This out-door department, therefore, is ing one pair of shoes under false prea labor of love and charity that enables tences from Spence, Tyree & Co. Dismany a laboring man to go on with his charged, work and support his family while unhas seven beds for white persons and five for colored, and is only utilized for such cases as require confinement to bed and more frequent attention. Some of these patients are able to pay moderate board, especially those from the counties, and were it not for this fact we would be in debt. The city gives their investigations at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and will sit in one of the us $400, which exactly pays rent ($360) and gas-bill, leaving all other expenses to be defrayed the best way we can. We must provide fuel, servants, medieines, as well as groceries and provi-

siens, for those in-door patients who are admitted free. We have three such patients in the house at present, who were blind and destitute. During the past year we have had 24 in-door patients, 9 of whom were blind from cataract and who recovered their vision. This makes 50 successful cases of eataract operated on. Eleven out of the 24 were free patients and 13 paid board. They spent 277 days in the infirmary. During the year we have much improved the institution, making both in- and out-door departments more heerful and comfortable.

With the above explanation of ocwork, we trust that we will be better understood, and that the call for help we are compelled to make upon our friends will be met in the spirit it is made, and a liberal response given.

To the Editor of the Dispatch : The future of our city depends very greatly on the policy and action of our present Council. We may be thankful

Mr. T. B. Miller, living near the old that it is made up of young as well as Five-Mile locks, recently found at Washington's old magazine" one old blood. And we trust that the vigor and courage of youth, as well as the 6-pound cannon with thirty-one 4- and prudence of age, will characterize it, and that of both a broad, mature, and -pound shot. They were found about fifteen inches under ground, and Mr. Miller is sure that they belong to the manly wisdom and steady progress may be the general result.

Whether the place is rightly called Washington's Magazine" is doubt-The tide in our affairs is full. Our opportunities are many.
